A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

WRECK ON THE BALTIMORE & OHIO RAILROAD.

A Fast Line Express Dashes Into a Freight Near Albion, Indiana, Killing Five People and Seriously Injuring a Number of Others-Other Fatalities.

ALBION, Ind., July 28.—The fast line express on the Baltimore & Ohio road, which left Chicago last night with two baggage cars, collided with a freight train on a curve near Albion, Ind., killing five people and injuring many others.

Engineer Cramer, of Garrett, and Fireman Edward Koken, whose relatives live at Dayton, O., both on the passenger train, and Engineer Diemer, of the freight, was killed.

Steamer Ashore.

New Bedford, Mass., July 28.—The steamer Martha's Vineyard, with 400 excursionists on board, returning from Falmouth Heights to this city yesterday, went ashore in a fog on Nebraska Point near Wood's Hall and was somewhat injured. She will probably float off at high tide. The passengers were all safely taken off and reached here by special train over the Old Colony road.

Girl Drowned.

JANESVILLE, Wis., July 28.—Leila Spaper, fifteen years of age, daughter of J. V. Spader, of Chicago, was drowned while bathing in a small creek near this city. Cora Parker and Evaline Spader, the latter a sister of the drowned girl, narrowly escaped meeting a similar fate, but were caped meeting a similar fate, but were rescued by Eddie Parker, who also narrowly escaped drowning.

Drowned in a Reservoir.

ARRON, O., July 28 .- William Swartz, aged twenty-two, residing about seven miles south of this city, while bathing in the reservoir, was drowned. He was taken with cramps and went down before help could be rendered. This makes the fourth case in this vicinity since Saturday.

Freight Train Derailed.

CARMI, Ill., July 28.—A Louisville & Nashville freight train was derailed yesterday afternoon this side of Wabash station. The engine fell upon and killed Fireman Al. Yearwood. Henry Craft, brakeman, had his knee fractured and back and neck.

THE COLOR LINE.

Why Negroes Are Barred Out From the

International Drill at Chicago. CHICAGO, July 28 .- "Why is it," asked a reporter for the United Press of Gen. C. S. Bentley, general manager of the International military encampment, "that com-panies composed of colored men will not be allowed to take part in the International encampment and drill?

"Because it is desirable that perfect harmony should prevail, and that would not be the case if colored companies were allowed to participate. We reserved the right to reject applications for entry, and it is not will practice in the courts of Mason and ad-joining counties, the Superior Court and our purpose to accept the entry of any organization, white or colored, that will inter-Collections and to Real Estate. Court street, fere with perfect harmony among the troops. I made the order entirely on my own judgment, without consulting others directly interested. I made the decision and adhere to it because I did not and do not now think it wise to bring uncongenial elements together. The occurrences at the National military encampment in Washington last May shows that the admission of colored organizations would cause bad feeling. Colored companies were allowed to participate there, but they were compelled to camp apart from the other troops, and certainly were ostracised in many ways. I do not want anything of the sort to happen here."

> 4 Brutal Deed Near Falmouth, Ky. FALMOUTH, Ky., July 28.—Joseph Neave, a very old and highly prosperous farmer, of Neave Postoffice, eight miles east of this place, was most brutally murdered this morning by John Neave, his son. John has been cultivating a part of his father's farm "on the shares" for some time, and as he was threshing his wheat this morning the old man took a few sacks and started over to John's to get his share of the crop. Arriving at John's place his son told him if he went to the barn he would kill him. The old man persisted, and drove toward the threshing machine, when the young man picked up his shotgun and fired, literally tearing his father's head to pieces, and causing instant death. The heartless wretch has barricaded himself in the house and defles arrest. A mob is organizing and Neave will probably never live to see the inside of a jail.

Riverside Rolling Mills Assign. CINCINNATI, July 28 .- The Riverside Iron and Steel company, whose president is W. P. Harris, and whose secretary is Al. Gahr, ssigned for the benefit of creditors to John S. Connor. The liabilities are supposed to aggregate $150,000. The assets, it is supposed, will not exceed a third of that amount. This is a branch of the E. L. Harper assignment which occurred about the time of the Fidelity bank failure. It was supposed that Maj. Lloyd, the trustee of MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 28. - The seven story brick building at Washington and Second avennes, South, occupied by the Boston One Price Clothing house, and L. OUR SAMOAN INTERESTS.

Mocessity for the Renewal of the Treaty and Other Commercial Negotiations. NEW YORK, July 28.—A Washington special to the Post says: It is ascertained that the object of the visit of Sir John Thurston, governor of the Fiji Islands, is to confer with the state department on some features of affairs in the Samoan Islands, in which civilized countries have a common interest. It is by virtue of his position as special commissioner to Samoa, and not because he is governor of the Fiji Islands, that he has special knowledge with respect to Samoan affairs. He is now on his way to England to confer with the foreign office as to Samoa and to make personal report.

The one subject in which the three countries-the United States, Great Britain and Germany-have a common interest is the title to the lands. Large tracts have been sold by the natives to the foreigners, seventy-five thousand acres having been sold in one body to Germans, at very low prices. In some instances for not more than one dollar an acre. The consideration has often been ammunition and articles of barter, but the title to the lands, owing to the com-munistic system in which families frequently live, are not clear. There has been a disposition to postpone the evil day, and as foreign countries, rivals to each other, are constantly acquiring large possessions in the islands, it is deemed of importance that there should be some adjustment of the diffi-

So great have been the complications that the natives have been forbidden by the Samoan government to sell their lands, but they have not strictly obeyed this order. The United States, if it is desired to retain at the tabernacle. The body will lie in state the advantages which it now has in Samoa, will be obliged soon to renew the treaty with that government; the present treaty, which was the first which Samoa ever negotiated with any government, will expire on July 3, 1888.

It is not probable that Sir John Thurston is anxious to assist our government to secure the negotiations of a new treaty, but Great Britain and Germany will undoubtedly cooperate to improve the basis of the development of commerce by coming to some understanding as to land titles, and it is admitted by those who have visited the islands that the government of Samoa will do whatever the great governments named will unite in asking it to do.

An Undertaker's Wagon Upsets. CINCINNATI, July 28.-Jim Nuttle, shot by "Jadi" Kennedy Saturday night, died at 10:30 last night. While the remains were being removed from the Good Samaritan hospital to his late home on State street, the undertaker's wagon went over a twentyfoot embankment near the Northern Narrow Gauge railroad. The night watchman of the depot heard the cries of the driver and went to his rescue. On going down the embankment he beheld the undertaker's wagon upside down and the horse kicking. By the fall the box containing the corpse was broken open and the body was thrown out on the ground. It was not, however, disfigured. The driver and horse almost miraculously escaped injury. The remains were replaced in the box and taken to the home of the deceased.

St. Louis, July 28. - The marriage of E. C. Woodward, of the Woodward & Tierman Printing company, one of the wealthiest establishments in the city, to Miss Lizzie Burks, a girl who has for five years been a press feeder in the house, is announced. The couple were married on January 29, but fear of parental wrath led young Woodward to defer the announcement. The young wife continued to feed presses until two weeks ago. Woodward's fears appear to be well founded, as his father is said to be willing to give him a chance to try the world single

DEATH OF THE MAN WHO SUC-CEEDED BRIGHAM YOUNG.

John Taylor, President of the Mormon Church, Dies at Salt Lake City-A Brief History of His Remarkabe Career-A Noted Journalist Dies at Toledo,

SALT LAKE CITY, July 28 .- John Taylor, president of the Mormon ehurch, is dead. The funeral will be at noon on Friday next in that building, and the public will be permitted to view the remains. John Taylor was born in England in 180s. He joined the Methodist church in England, and emigrated to Canada in 1832. In 1836 Taylor was baptized into the Mormon church, and in 1838 Joseph Smith had a "revelation" naming Taylor as one of the twelve apostles. He did much missionary work for the church for twenty years in the Isle of Man, England, Scotland, Ireland, France and Wales. He was also editor of various church papers. He was with Joseph Smith in the Carthage jail and received four shots when the assailants opened fire. He has been president of the church since Young's death in 1877. Apostle John Taylor was so zealous in the faith that at one time, in 1855, he actually established a Mormon paper in New York city, and sought to convert the wicked inhabitants of that place to the ways of Latter the citizens of the metropolis, according to Mormon belief, endorse and follow the ways of the saints on the sly, yet they could not be brought to the scratch of advocating their views publicly, and Brother John's paper was done for almost as soon as it was begun.

WORKING FOR ENGLISH WAGES. And Waiting the Convenience of the Contractors for Pay.

NEW YORK, July 28. - Charles Gooden, of Chicago, who was employed as a painter at the American exhibition in London, was at Castle Garden to-day trying to obtain transportation home. He tells a queer story of his experiences at the exhibition, which he pronounces a complete failure. The work, he says, was all done by English contractors, who paid starvation wages, and invariably kept the men waiting an indefinite length of time for their pay. "We would knock off work at noon Saturday, and the contractors would keep us waiting until 9 or 10 o'clotk at night, and often later, for our money," said he. "The English-working people laid the blame for this on the American management, whereas the English contractors alone were responsible. Several riots were the result of this treatment, and on one occasion the mob broke all bounds and tore down a large American flag which floated from one of the scaffoldings, and proceeded to burn it on a bonfire. I seized the flag, and saved it from destruction, but I came near getting laid out for it. The police, however, appeared on the scene just in time, and drove the mob away."

This indignity, according to Gooden, was witnessed by Consulting Engineer O'Driscoll, but the matter was hushed up.

DESTRUCTIVE STORM.

Washouts and Landslides, Bridges Gone and Roads Ruined.

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa., July 28.—The rain storm here was the most destructive ever experienced. The track of the Eric road for a thousand feet has been washed into the Susquehanna river at Red Rock, four miles west of here, impeding traffic. The Jefferson branch is abandoned on account of land slides. Bridges have been washed away and highways and roads destroyed. Several houses were carried down the creeks.

Bad Railway Washouts.

READING, Pa., July 28.—The storm yes-terday afternoon did considerable damage in the vicinity of Shamrock, on the East Pennsylvania branch of the Reading railroad. Several bad washouts occurred west of that town, and it will require several days to repair the damage. Passengers are being transferred. Many houses were flooded and property badly damaged. The storm was the most severe ever known in that section. Telegraph and telephone wires are prostrated.

Property and Crops Destroyed.

St. Paul, Minn., July 28.—Specials to the Pioneer Press show the storm was unusually severe and destructive in Dakota and Minnesota. Many dwellings and outbuildings were damaged or destroyed and crops badly injured. At Rapid City, Dak., hail covered the ground to a depth of four inches, and did $10,000 damage. A freight train was struck by lightning, and forty mules killed.

Electrical Storm.

NEW YORK, July 28.—A very severe electrical storm prevailed in this city for a time last night. Only One Life Lost.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., July 28 .- Although damage to property was very great, the reports of loss of life have been exaggerated. The only body found is that of Mr. Drum, of Caseyville. The mother, in her anxiety and Day saints. But although a good many of fright, upset the boat, and, as they were alone, both would have drowned had not their horse, an intelligent French pony, which had been turned out to graze on the shore of the lake, come to their rescue. It swam out to them, and when they had taken hold of its mane struggled back to shore, a tired but heroic pony. The animal is inclined to be balky, and he never would pull anything, but he is a prime favorite now.

Indiana White Caps. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 28. - Governor Gray has received a letter from George Gwartney, prosecutor of the Third Judicial circuit, saying that he has recently prosecuted several of the "White Cap" regulators of his circuit, but found it impossible to secure a conviction. From the tone of the letter it appears that the attorney has little hope of bringing any of the regulators to justice, but he promises to keep up the effort. The governor is considering the propriety of calling out the militia to suppress the regulators.

Mexico City Threatened With Overflow. CITY OF MEXICO, July 28. - A renewal of the heavy rains, which the sewers were unable to take care of, causes apprehension for the safety of the city in case Lake Tezcoco should overflow the low lying country between it and the city. The reports to-day are that the lake has risen to the level of the city. There is a popular demand for the rapid completion of drainage works. Contracts for timber for section work, which is to be taken by the Cleveland syndicate, have already been placed.

It was a Maysville hog, and of course it wasn't hurt.

Her funeral was preached on Sunday afternoon by Elder John Sweeney, who officiated at the marriage ceremony. The parents and husband have the heartfelt sympathy of many friends."

SOME FAVORITE DISHES

OF WHICH THE GREAT WILLION-AIRES ARE VERY FOND.

Jay Gould's French Cook-Cyrus W. Field Fond of Chicken-Russell Sage Likes Crullers-D. O. Mills Infatuated With Antelope Steak.

The habits of men who have been lucky enough or successful enough to make a million dollars or over are always a matter of interest to their less fortunate fellow citizens. That is why a reporter started out the other day to find out what millionaires eat.

Most people have an idea that the majority of millionaires dine on some kind of extraordinary food of which the usual run of men know nothing about. This fallacy was exposed by the reporter's informants, and it seems that millionaires eat pretty much the same kind of food as do people who haven't so much money, but who probably have more appetite.

As a rule millionaires do not care to tell just what they eat, but the biggest millionaire of them all, Mr. Jay Gould, has no such scruples. Without hesitation Mr. Gould informed the reporter that he was an abstemious diner and had no desire for extraordinary dishes.

MR. GOULD'S FRENCH COOK. "I keep a French cook," said Mr. Gould, "who has been with me for years, but he is not required to exert his ingenuity in getting up novelties for the palate.' "What do you usually have for breakfast?"

asked the reporter. "I usually eat an orange as a starter," replied Mr. Gould, "and I am very fond of a nice porterhouse steak, an egg omelet cooked in a manner peculiar to my French chef, hot rolls, coffee and any little knickknacks new in the market."

"And for lunch?" "Oh, I eat very sparingly for lunch. Sometimes I go up on the top floor of the Western Union building and have some deviled crabs, of which I am fond, or a slice of cold roast beef. Dinner is my principal meal. I manage to worry through seven courses every evening at about 7 o'clock. One of my favorite dishes is roast turkey. I drink sparingly of claret and seldom touch any other wine.

Mr. Gould's bright eyes, healthy complexion and springy step bear evidence to the fact that he knows just what to eat in order to keep in good physical condition. Cyrus W. Field is probably the best liver among New York millionaires. As a result of this, Mr. Field is becoming somewhat stout, his face is growing more florid, and it is easily seen that he is a man who likes a good dinner.

Mr. Field's breakfast is a simple meal, however. He is very fond of milk and drinks a good deal of it. Fruits of all kinds are always on his breakfast table. Mr. Field reaches his down town office at 10 o'clock each morning. At 1 o'clock he visits the restaurant on the top of his grand building.

"Mr. Field is a sociable man and usually has a couple of friends at lunch with him, said the proprietor of the restaurant yesterday. "He usually orders a broiled chicken for lunch and seems never to tire of the dish. With a bottle of Madeira at his elbow he can talk and joke through a five course lunch with ease. Probably owing to Mr. Field's English inclinations he has a penchant for underdone roast beef."

A PIECE OF PIE. To counteract this Mr. Field's New England ancestry comes to the fore, and he rarely leaves either the lunch or dinner table without testing the merits of a piece of pie.

Mr. Field's dinner is always an elaborate affair. His guests are numerous, and the menu contains everything that the most particular palate can desire. One of Mr. Field's favorite dishes is mock turtle soup. He has been known to eat three plates of this delicacy before settling down to the more solid delights of a bill of fare.

The most sparing and economical of the millionaires in regard to diet is Russell Sage. His breakfast consists of a bowl of oatmeal and milk, two slices of bread and a up of tea. Winter or summer, Mr. Sage never varies in this respect. For lunch he sometimes buys two crullers from old "Katy," who keeps a lunch stand in front of Mr Sage's office, but more frequently a one cent apple suffices the common of his appetite.

At dinner Mr. Sage is equally abstemious. He is a great lover of fish, especially of fresh salmon, and is extravagant only on this point. Plain roast or mutton, topped off by bread pudding or a banana, completes the dinner of Erastus Wiman enjoys the good things of life, too. He has a big repetation as a most lordly host, and an investation to a dinner at his Staten Island home is eagerly sought for.

Mr. Wiman learned to like moose meat while living in Canada, and he frequently treats his guests to the tender but-rather strong food.

D. O. Mills eats plain food and likes it. When in California he became infatuated with antelope steak and frequently receives the carcase of one of these animals from his western friends. Then he invites a few friends and surprises them with the rare and palatable prairie product. - New York

A VERY SLICK GANG.

Charged With Obtaining Goods Under False Pretenses.

Feather Renovators Accused of 'Nipping" Goods from Their Customers.

CAUGHT BY CAPTAIN HEFLIN.

The sensation at Germantown yesterday was the arrest of two men charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses. There were five included in the got wind of what was coming, and made tracks for Augusta. They hesitated not on the order of their going, either. They had only about fifteen minutes start of the officer, however, and it is to be hoped they were overhauled and are now in custody

The arrests were the result of some nice detective work by Marshal Heflin of this city.

A gang of feather renovators have been at work at Mt. Olivet and Germantown for some time. They hail from Indiana. They opened out at Germantown a few weeks ago, and a few days afterwards they shipped 500 pounds of feathers to Cincinnati by the steamer St. Lawrence. Captain Heslin got on to the matter, and was told by a stranger here in Maysville THE dwelling of James Jones near in the same business at that time that the feathers from their customers. Last Thursday another shipment of 525 pounds was made from here by the same gang, making 1,025 pounds in a little more than two weeks. Feathers are quoted at 35 cents a pound, so it can be seen what a profitable business the crowd was engaged in, -over $300 in about two weeks, in addition to the pay for their work.

Captain Heflin was informed by the stranger alluded to that "nipping" meant giving false weights. When a bed was received from a customer, it was weighed, but the scales were "fixed" and there was generally a difference of several pounds between the real and false weight. One victim, so Captain Heflin says, has found that rags were cut up and slipped in to make up the weight of his Captain Heflin went to work to lay his plans to catch the gang. He visited Germantown giving out the report he was trying to get the position of Marshal during the next fair at that place. This was last Monday, and while at the hotel he heard two of the gang talking about what they would make out of five large beds they had gotten in that day.

They thad been promised some work by people living in Germantown, and Captain Heflin quietly went to these people, told them of what he suspected, had the real weight of the beds taken, and had arrangements made to have the "renovating" done that evening. The gang fell into the trap set for them. The Yesterday Captain Heflin had a warrant sworn out for the members of the gang, and placed in the hands of the Marshal of Germantown. There were five parties in the crowd. Only two of these were in the town at the time. They got a hint of what was coming and skipped for Augusta. The officers left in hot pursuit shortly afterwards and it is to be hoped the game was overtaken. Two others of the gang were out in the country at the time returning beds to their victims. On their return to Germantown they were placed in custody, and will have their examining trial to-day before Police Judge Johnson. In the absence of County Attorney Newell, C. L. Sallee went out to represent the Commonwealth.

The fifth party has not been in Germantown for several days.

There is no telling how many people have been swindled. The extent of the "nipping" amounts, probably, to several thousand dollars, and it is fortunate for the people that the gang has been exposed. Fuller developments may be expected at the trial to-day.

Will Go Deeper.

THE COMING YACHT RACE.

ENGLISHMEN ENTHUSED OVER THE THISTLE'S DEPARTURE.

All Sporting Interest Centered in the Scotch Craft That is Expected to Take Back America's Cup-Betting on the Result-Other Foreign Affairs.

LONDON, July 28. - The departure of the Thistle for New York has increased the enthusiasm over her performance and set everybody to talking about yachte and yachting. A few of the extreme sperting men have had their attention drawn away from the speculative possibilities of the race for the America's cup for the moment by the conclusion of the match between Jem Smith and Jake Kilrain, but the devotees of yachting cannot be lured from their allegiance to the Scotch craft that is expected to work a complete revolution in American boat building, besides bringing the cup home

The discussion of the relative merits of English and American yachts has been much enlivened of late by the appearance of the Volunteer upon the scene and the performances of that boat have given some of the Thistle's admirers an extremely bad turn. In connection with the advent of the Volunteer, and the consequent lessening of the chances that the Thistle will have a walkover, as many enthusiasts predicted a few weeks ago, a story has come to the surface here of the truth of which there is no doubt, and which is too good to be permitted to die of strangulation on this side of the water. It appears that when the Thistle came in an winner in the first of the trial races with the crack English yachts so great was the jubilation over her speed, that a pool or syndicate was formed here to wager on her success in the America's cup race.

However patriotic the British sportsman may be he does not permit his reverence for home productions to over-balance his judgment concerning the result of contests upon which his money is ventured, but the promoters of this scheme felt that the Thistle was a boat superior to anything afloat. Consequently arrangements were made to profit by American enthusiasm and National pride, and it may be safely said that the acquisition of no money would be so hailed with glee as a round stake captured from the Americans after so many years of disappointment to British yachtsmen. Not that the latter have ever admitted any superiority in American boats. On the contrary, they have always decried them as unsafe, inconvenient crafts, merely racing machines screwed up to a temporary pitch of speed by some Yankee trick or device, and whenever an American cat-boat is upset through the incompetency or carelessness of her handler, the accident is dilated upon by English journals as proving the unseaworthiness of American yachts. But the British coalition was taken aback by the appearance of the Volunteer as a contestant, and the entrance of this factor into the quota of things to be considered also ludicrously altered the boastful tone of the nautical prophets.

Many small wagers have thus early been made that the Thistle will bring back the much coveted cup, but the subscribers to the large fund accumulated to deplete the pockets of American sportsmen have taken alarm at the reports of the Volunteer's speed, model and latent possibilities, and a meeting of the contributors has been called to discuss the matter in its new bearings. It would be curious, but not at all surprising in the circumstances, if the fund should be returned to the subscribers, or the managers instructed at the last moment to hedge.

TIENSIN, China, July 28.—Count Mitkiewicz, representing a Philadelphia syndicate, has a successful mission in China. This is the first concession of its kind ever granted foreigners, and in which the Chinese government has purchased half the stock.
